Crete, Oct. 7.—The Cretans are preparing a coup d'etat in favor of a union with Greece and this action may be expected at any moment.

Free at Last
Athens, Oct. 7.—Dispatches received here from Crete announce the people of Crete have proclaimed a union of that island with Greece.

Long Conquered
The island of Crete has long been a conquered portion of both oriental, European and African powers. But one hundred and sixty miles long and thirty miles wide in its widest portion and even twelve and ten at the narrow, it is the largest island in the Mediterranean.

Its History
Early Greek mythology treats of Crete as a wonderful country for laws and the first to promote Greece supremacy on the sea. It never took an

Romans Victors
After years of fighting history records of the capture and occupation of Crete by the Romans in 67 B. C. It remained a province of Rome and later of the Byzantine Empire until captured by the Saracens in 823 A. D.

Was Recaptured
In 961 it was recaptured and again became an integral part of the empire until it was given to the Venetians in 1204. Under Venetian rule it had the greatest liberty it had ever enjoyed, but again became a Turkish province in 1667.

In 1830 during the Greek war for independence Crete again broke into

FEW APPLICANTS FOR $3,000 JOBS

Examinations For Appointment as Examiner of Interstate Commission Very Hard.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—Civil service examinations are to be held today and tomorrow to secure applicants from which to make appointments as examiner in the Interstate Commerce Commission. Contrary to expectations there have been few applicants for these positions, which are to pay from $1,800 to $3,000 a year. This is due to the fact that the requirements outlined by the commission are difficult to meet and the examinations are very exhaustive, involving expert knowledge of general auditing, debentures, freight, passenger and claims accounts in connection with steam roads and accounting in connection with electric railways, express service, steamship service and other common carrier service.

The applicants who qualify at the examination will be paid from an appropriation of $300,000 made available by Congress at the last session for the purpose of examining the books and accounts of railroads to see if they are complying with the bookkeeping system prescribed by the commission more than a year ago.

JEROME WITHDREW FROM THE THAW CASE TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 7.—District Attorney Jerome withdrew from the Thaw case today when Justice Mills refused to transfer the hearing on the question of Thaw's sanity to New York county. Mills will name two experts to examine Thaw and will settle the case upon their report next Monday.

Young Man Held Up Last Evening—
Two Suspects Arrested Today

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Holot, Oct. 7.—George Stirling was held up and robbed of $10.50 in cash and seven pool checks last evening by two young toughs. This morning Joe Degan and Harry Meyers, aged nineteen and eighteen, were arrested to taken to court this afternoon.

College News
Who is the strongest man in Holot college is the question that Dana M. Evans, the new athletic director, will attempt to decide after the gymnasium classes are running smoothly and the physical examinations of the freshmen and sophomores have been fully completed.

The new director held the first gym class yesterday afternoon. About ninety students of the academy and almost all of the men in the freshmen classes have been given a physical examination and Mr. Evans hopes to be able to complete them in the next two weeks at the latest.

As soon as all schedules in the gym are arranged, Mr. Evans will begin classes in wrestling, boxing and fencing. Many of the students have expressed a desire to receive instruction in the above and now display a strong interest in the gymnasium work.

Among the freshmen class, the athletic director has found some fine material for gymnastic work and is also planning on the development of a team of gymnasts which will compete with other teams of this nature in the state.

Under the direction of Mr. Evans, the track men are now taking their evening cross country runs and also are doing some indoor work.

As soon as the football season is over, the track men, basketball men and baseball men will begin preparatory work indoors. Mr. Evans is planning on a most successful year in athletics and says that he has got some exceptional material in the school. The best part of it is, these men have shown a willingness to work in the gymnasium and have taken a hold in the gym in a surprising manner.

Following the system which he used in his previous work at some of the big eastern schools, the athletic director will give tests with the big weights to single out the strongest men in the school. This entire test will comprise strength tests for the back, lungs and the arms, the same as is used in the big schools and athletic clubs of the country.

Mr. Evans was director of the Denver Athletic club before he came here, and athletic director at Cornell University before going to Denver. He started the first wrestling classes at Cornell and is thoroughly acquainted with all the tricks of both boxing and wrestling. He is also considered one of the finest athletic directors in the country and judging from the material no win the school and from the ability of the director, Holot college will have athletics this year that will excel those of any previous years.

At football practice last night, "Hank" Schneider, the speedy end of last year's eleven and also end on the all-state team, and John P. Pringle, half-back from Marshall high school of Chicago, made their first appearances with the squad. Redbach was out for practice but not in condition and was therefore kept out until today.

Wm. Rohlsing
Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 7.—Wm. Rohlsing, one of Milwaukee's pioneer piano dealers, and an active resident of the city for 30 years, died suddenly this morning at his home, 502 Cass street, at the age of about 70 years. So sudden was the death of Mr. Rohlsing that none of the members of his family had the least idea he would die until about an hour before he passed away.

CANADIAN PACIFIC WILL ISSUE STOCK

Common Capital Stock of Company to be Increased by $50,000,000.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Montreal, Oct. 7.—At a meeting held at the general offices in this city today the stockholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway took favorable action in regard to the proposal of the directors for an increase of $50,000,000 in the common capital stock of the company. The additional stock is to be issued from time to time according to the requirements of the company. The greater part of the issue, it is understood, will be used to carry out the plans of the road for the development of its steamship lines, not only on the Pacific, but on the Atlantic as well.

STATE OFFICIALS WERE CHOSEN TODAY

Georgians Voted for Full State Ticket from the Governor Down.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 7.—A state election is in progress in Georgia today for all state officials from governor down, members of congress, members of the judiciary and county officers. The election of all of the nominees on the democratic ticket is assured and the question is one only of plurality. The managers of the democratic campaign have been using their best efforts to pull a large vote for the effect that it may have on the national election next month. The democratic candidate for governor is Joseph M. Brown, former railroad commissioner, who defeated Hoke Smith in the senatorial primary contest last spring. The only opposing candidate for the governorship is William Vance Carter, who was named by the independence party and who subsequently created something of a sensation by repudiating the independence party national ticket.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS OF NORTHWEST MEET

Thirty-ninth Annual Meeting Opens in Chicago With Two Hundred Present.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7.—Insurance men to the number of about 200 from a number of states attended the opening session of the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Northwest at the Auditorium this morning. The sessions will continue over tomorrow and the program provides for discussions of various interesting phases of the fire underwriting business.

President Carroll L. DeWitt called the gathering to order and delivered his address. This was followed by the annual address delivered by E. G. Richards, United States manager of the North British and Mercantile.

At the session this afternoon papers were presented as follows: "Community of Interest Between Insurance and Local Manager," E. W. Beardsley, Hartford, Conn.; "Educational Responsibility in Underwriting," O. E. Lane, Denver, Colo.; "Harmony—A Message to Field Men," Louis F. Daniel, Minneapolis; "Schedule Rating and Field Conditions," C. H. Patton, Cleveland.

VERMONT TO ELECT SENATOR THIS WEEK

Successor to the Late Senator Redfield Proctor Will be Chosen by Legislature.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Burlington, Vt., Oct. 7.—The Vermont legislature convened today for its regular biennial session. One of the most important duties of the session will be to elect a United States senator as successor to the late Redfield Proctor. Mr. Stewart now holding the place ad interim by appointment of the governor. There appears to be a strong popular sentiment that the honor should be conferred on former Governor Carroll S. Page. The names of Governor Fletcher Proctor and Congressman D. J. Foster also are mentioned in connection with the senatorship.

In addition to the election of a senator there are a number of important matters to be brought up at the legislative session. One of the foremost will be taxation reform, a special commission having reported in favor of a number of changes in the methods of assessment and collection. The regulation of automobiles promises to be an interesting question, and the protection of the forests will be a topic of discussion by the lawmakers.

FIND GUN THAT WAS USED BY MURDERER

Appleton Murder Case Is Attracting Considerable Attention Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Appleton, Wis., Oct. 7.—A bomb was sent into the murder case of Paul Krause at the opening of the trial at 10 o'clock this morning when District Attorney Rooney stated the gun had been found that was supposed to have been thrown in Fox river after the tragedy on the night of June 2d. The gun, according to the state, was found in the home of Mrs. Minnie Gruert, divorced wife of the accused man, whose body was found hanging on a hook of the clothes closet on the second floor of her home. The gun was wrapped up in some pieces of clothing and packed away in the basement back of a closet. This piece of evidence in addition to the finding of a button from Krause's vest on the closet door where the dead body was found, is expected to be the principal line of evidence from which the state expects to secure the conviction of Krause.

Lawrence Jones, a man who spent several months behind the bars in the jail here, and who became the defendant of Krause, the accused man, was brought on the stand this morning, and will be subpoenaed as a witness for the state. He claims to have valuable and incriminating evidence.

Mrs. L. Pebble, sister of the dead woman, was the first witness called to the stand this morning and reviewed conditions on the day prior to the tragedy and the finding of the dead body at the Gruert home. It is expected the examination of witnesses will occupy at least two days.

GARFIELD INAUGURATED AT WILLIAMS COLLEGE TODAY

New President Is Eldest Son Of James A. Garfield, Former President Of The United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 7.—This morning, with simple ceremony, but before a great and enthusiastic company, Dr. Harry A. Garfield was formally installed as president of Williams College. The event was chiefly notable for the general feeling of satisfaction with the man who is to guide the destinies of one of New England's most famous institutions of learning.

The inauguration exercises took place in the Congregational church. In addition to President Garfield the speakers included Rev. Dr. John S. Zelle, of Plainfield, N. J., representing the alumni; Rev. Dr. W. Adams of Fall River, speaking for the trustees; Professor John H. Hewitt, for the faculty; and Ernest H. Wood, '09, of New York City, for the undergraduates.

Among the scores of distinguished educators and other visitors in attendance were President Arthur T. Haddock of Yale University, President George Harris of Amherst College, President W. H. P. Pauco of Brown University, President Carroll D. Wright of Clark College, President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, President J. G. Schurman of Cornell University, President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, President B. D. Wardlaw of Lafayette College, President Mary E. Woolley of Mount Holyoke College, President Abram W. Harris of Northwestern University, President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton University, President George E. Muelson of the University of Iowa, President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago, President E. A. Alderman of the University of Virginia, President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, and Professor A. S. Root of Oberlin College.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, whose election to the presidency of Williams College placed him in the front rank among American educators, is the eldest son of James A. Garfield, twenty-first President of the United States. He was born in Portage county, Ohio, in 1873. He was graduated from Williams College in 1895, studied law at the Columbia law school and then went abroad and spent a year at Oxford and the Inns of Court in London. In 1898 he began law practice in Cleveland. He rapidly became prominently identified with civil service reform and municipal improvement work. In 1903 he abandoned the practice of law to accept the chair of politics in Princeton University, which position he held until his election as president of Williams College.

BOTH TAFT AND BRYAN TO BE AT TONIGHT'S BANQUET

Two Presidential Candidates In Chicago Today--Doings Of The Other Political Flying Wedges.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Oct. 7.—Presidential candidates William H. Taft and William J. Bryan arrived in the city this morning to attend the opening of the lake-to-gulf deep waterways convention today.

Both were greeted at the stations by committees from the convention and prominent members of their respective parties.

Judge Taft addressed the convention in the forenoon on advantages to be gained by the systematic improvement of our inland waterways, and the conservation of the natural resources.

He then left for Galesburg where he made a short speech and on returning to Chicago he will meet Bryan at the banquet of the Chicago Association of Commerce this evening.

The convention, after the appointment of committees, adjourned to permit the delegates to inspect the waterway route between Chicago and Joliet, Mack Better.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—National Democratic Chairman Mack, who was reported to have suffered a nervous collapse last night, was on duty as usual today and declared he never felt better in his life.

Discusses Plans
Chicago, Oct. 7.—The plans for the final weeks of the democratic campaign were outlined and discussed at a conference between William J. Bryan, National Chairman Mack, and the heads of the various bureaus of the national committee today. Bryan told the committee members he felt convinced that the tide was still running strong for the democratic ticket.

On the Stump
Chicago, Oct. 7.—The announcement was made by National Chairman Hitchcock today that Taft would remain on the stump until the close of the campaign. Hitchcock said he did not know whether Roosevelt would take the stump or not.

Not to Speak
Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt told Senator Hohenway today he did not consider it necessary for him to make speeches in the support of Taft.

Was in Lincoln
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 7.—Gov. Hughes of New York, in Bryan's home city this morning, attacked the industrial and labor policies of the democratic candidate for the presidency. He was greeted at the station by a large crowd and escorted amid an enthusiastic demonstration to the opera house. Leaving here Hughes is scheduled to make fourteen addresses today.

ROCK COUNTY IS LEADING IN WORK

COUNTY COMMISSIONER OF HIGH-WAYS SKAVLEM VERY BUSY.

TOTALS TWENTY-FIVE MILES

Rushing Work to Get It Completed
Before the Snow Falls
This Winter.

There are busy days for County
Commissioner of Highways H. L.
Skavlem and the rush of work being done throughout the county in the good roads work before frost comes keeps him traveling early and late.
In all sixteen places of new road are
in process of construction at the present time and when finished will total up to some twenty-five miles finished this summer in Rock county.

Union is the first town in the county to finish its allotted task and has one and three-quarters miles of good road completed near Evansville. Foot-ville has three-quarters of a mile of road which will be finished shortly and also one mile to be done near Or-fordville. In the town of Newark are four places of stone road, measuring about a quarter of a mile each.

In Beloit township there are two roads, one of stone and one of gravel,
each about a half and three-quarters of a mile in length. In the town of Tortie there is one road, a mile and a half long, from the city limits of Beloit towards Shoppers of gravel and a mile of stone road east from the town hall towards Clinton.

In the town of Clinton a half-mile of gravel road is being finished and a stone road, ninety rods long, has been completed. In the town of Bradford there is a half-mile of stone and gravel road work being constructed and a half-mile strip completed. In Johnstown there is two miles of road running through Johnston Center road and one half-mile strip two miles east of Johnston.

Harrison has two miles of road under process of construction, both to be built of gravel. One runs towards Milton Junction and the other into Milton. In the town of Milton there is a half-mile near Lake Koshkonong to be finished and a half-mile near Milton Junction. In the town of Fulton
there is a mile and thirty rods of rebuilt road and two miles more to be constructed, the contractor pitching his camp today to complete this latter strip.

In the town of Center there are two pieces of road finished which have been built with the aid of a traction engine, which did all the hauling and grading and rolling. In the town of Janesville two strips are to be constructed, one a mile long on the west side of the river on the Madison road and another a half-mile north of the county farm.

Mr. Skavlem is much pleased with the results obtained this year and believes that now that good roads have been demonstrated next spring will see a greater number of miles to be constructed than this year.

the Women's Literary club assembled last evening and held their opening meeting for the fall of 1908. Mrs.
O. C. Colony and Mrs. J. P. Porter were the leaders for the evening. The club will continue the study of Shakepeare, taking up "Two Gentlemen of Verona," "All's Well That Ends Well," and "King John." At the close of the literary program a short time will be spent at each meeting discussing household topics. The club will hold their next meeting with Mrs. V. H.
Campbell.

Bishop W. E. Sellow of Jamestown,
N. Y., visited over Sunday with Rev.
and Mrs. L. B. Webb. He gave an address in the Seminary chapel Sunday afternoon and spoke of his trip around the world in the interest of foreign missions.

itor Monday.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL AGENT IS MISSING

Ambrose Levin of Fitchburg is Not to Be Found and His Accounts Are Short.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Oct. 7.—Ambrose Levin, the Illinois Central agent at Fitchburg, between Monroe and Madison, is missing and his accounts are short. He gave the depot keys to a conductor last week and asked that they be delivered to the superintendent at Preppert, Ill. An auditor was sent to the station and checked over the books which showed a shortage of between $50 and $100. Detective T. J.
Burns of Baton Rouge, La., passed through here en route to Madison to search for him.

The republican campaign will be opened in Green county next week when Congressman H. A. Cooper of Racine will speak at the armory in this city on the night of Oct. 15. Mr.
Cooper will also speak at Brodhead on Oct. 16, at Albany on Oct. 17 and at New Glarus on Oct. 19. Senator La Follette has also signified a willingness to come to Green county to speak in the interests of the republican national ticket. The republican county committee will meet in the courthouse here Thursday night of next week to organize a Tull and Borman club of Green county voters.

A regular mail, baggage and express car was added to the Illinois Central passenger train going north through here in the morning and south in the afternoon today. The steam train has been running between Preppert and Madison the past month since the gasoline car was taken off the run. The mail car has not been on the train until today.

The Rev. M. H. Frye, pastor of the United Brethren church, will leave Monroe next week to attend the district conference of his church to be held in Janesville and will not return to Monroe. He intends to remain out of pastorate work next year and remain at his home in Neenah, Wis.

WEE MITE SOCIETY TO HOLD MEETING
Children and Their Mothers of Congregational Church to Meet Thursday.

Clinton, Oct. 6.—The Wee Mite Society, the cradle roll of the Congregational church and Sunday school, will hold a yearly meeting at the home of Mrs. A. S. Porter, North Church street, Thursday. About fifteen little members of the Sunday school with their mothers will be present. Dainty refreshments and program will be the order of business.

Rev. Clyde McGee left this morning for Madison to attend the state convention of the Congregational church.

Mrs. Chas. Larson, North School
street, is very seriously ill. This disease is certainly the most sadly afflicting with sickness of any people in our village. Mr. Larson has been laid up with a complication of diphtheria and has suffered almost constantly with first one affliction and then another.
They have the sympathy of the entire community.

Dr. J. M. Townsend of Kilbourn City who formerly lived here has been spending several days here visiting old-time friends. Everybody is glad to see him again.

Mrs. Lottie W. Ellis and Miss Beula
Shepard are contemplating a trip to Europe this winter.

Will Wood was able to be out Monday, but was not looking very stout.

P. and Mrs. Trent, and Miss Grace
Greene are spending a little time in Madison this week.
H. A. Moehlenpach took quite a trip around the district last week and this week he is to visit Delavan, Shoppers and several other towns. He seems to feel quite encouraged at his prospect.

Harold Bruce spent Sunday here.
The remains of Mrs. J. Raymond of Shoppers were brought here for interment on Sunday and were accompanied by a great number of relatives and friends.

Peter Enghouse, living a quarter-mile west of Carver's Rocks, is the last to sell his farm. His auction is to be Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 13th.
A. M. Van Volzer, our blacksmith, spent Sunday in Delavan. He is making regular trips now.

W. P. Wadston and son Milton and W. A. Mayhew leave for Texas tonight. If this Texas fever continues the place and surrounding country will be depopulated.

FORMER PRINCIPAL WRITES A LETTER

H. C. Buell has Received Letter From
W. D. Parker, Who Was Here in 60s, and 70s.

Principal H. C. Buell has recently received a letter from W. D. Parker formerly of Janesville and now of Pasadena, Cal. Mr. Parker was at one time superintendent of schools in this city and will be remembered by the older residents. He was head of the schools in the late sixties and early seventies. Later he was appointed superintendent of the State School for the Blind under Governor Peck's administration. His health would not allow him to remain there and he later went to Madison where he taught for some time.

Mr. Parker in his letter asked about a number of the old teachers and also concerning the state teachers association, which is to be held in Milwaukee this month.

DAMAGED CARS WILL CONTINUE IN RACE

Studebaker and Reliable Dayton Left Here Last Night on Return to Chicago.
If they reach Chicago by four o'clock this morning both the Studebaker and the Reliable Dayton will continue in the 1,000 reliability run. The Studebaker car stripped its differential about five miles out of Janesville and was towed back to Peterson's garage.
A new differential was sent for and the car left here last night at 10:30.
Roy Peterson and Harry Nowlan went down in it.

The Reliable Dayton made some repairs and was able to start south to Chicago about six thirty last evening.
This machine broke a frame near Koshkonong yesterday.

Explains To Thin Ladies

A Simple But Sure Method of Developing a Well-Rounded Bust and Figure.

A RARE PRESCRIPTION Which Transforms Plainness Into Rarest Beauty.

It is a simple but sure method of developing the bust, arms, neck, hips and shoulders of women, who through some defect of nutrition and circulation are forever being humiliated by their more fortunate sisters. First, it must be understood that the human skin is an enormous gland, richly endowed with nerves, secreting and ex-creting organs, and a network of minute blood vessels which contain at one time over one-third of all the blood in the body—that is, its nature is perfect.

The relation of the skin to the vital organs through the nervous system, in controlling the blood supply, is such as to put them as a team working together, being in such close relation to the nervous system, it follows that a powerful, rich, nerve stimulant applied to the skin to be absorbed as nourishment, will result in immediate blood supply and flesh growth at the parts treated, thus bringing about the most beautiful changes and development.

Get separately two ounces glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomene compound and five cents' worth of borax. Mix
the glycerine with tincture cadomene, shake and let stand two hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and the rosewater. Apply to the parts needing development morning and night, rubbing thoroughly absorbed; then wash off with hot water and soap, and dry.

It is believed by expert dermatolo-gists to be the most effective prescription ever conceived for the purpose.

Interesting Bits of News Picked Up
Here and There at the National Capital.

ELOPEMENT IN HIGH LIFE STUNS CAPITAL SOCIETY

WASHINGTON.—Capital society was much cut up by the elopement of Mrs. Alma Marie von Haake, wife of the son of a millionaire, with Earl W. Pritchard, an ensign in the navy until dismissed "for the good of the service" after running away with Mrs. Cathcart. It is said the loth husband, Lt. Harry Cathcart, Jr., will apply for divorce.

The beginning of the romance dates back about three years. Alma Marie von Haake was then 18 years of age and one of the most popular girls in the younger army set in Washington. She lived with her parents in the Hammond Court, a fashionable apartment house. She was, and still is, a dainty, vivacious girl, with a striking mass of chestnut hair.

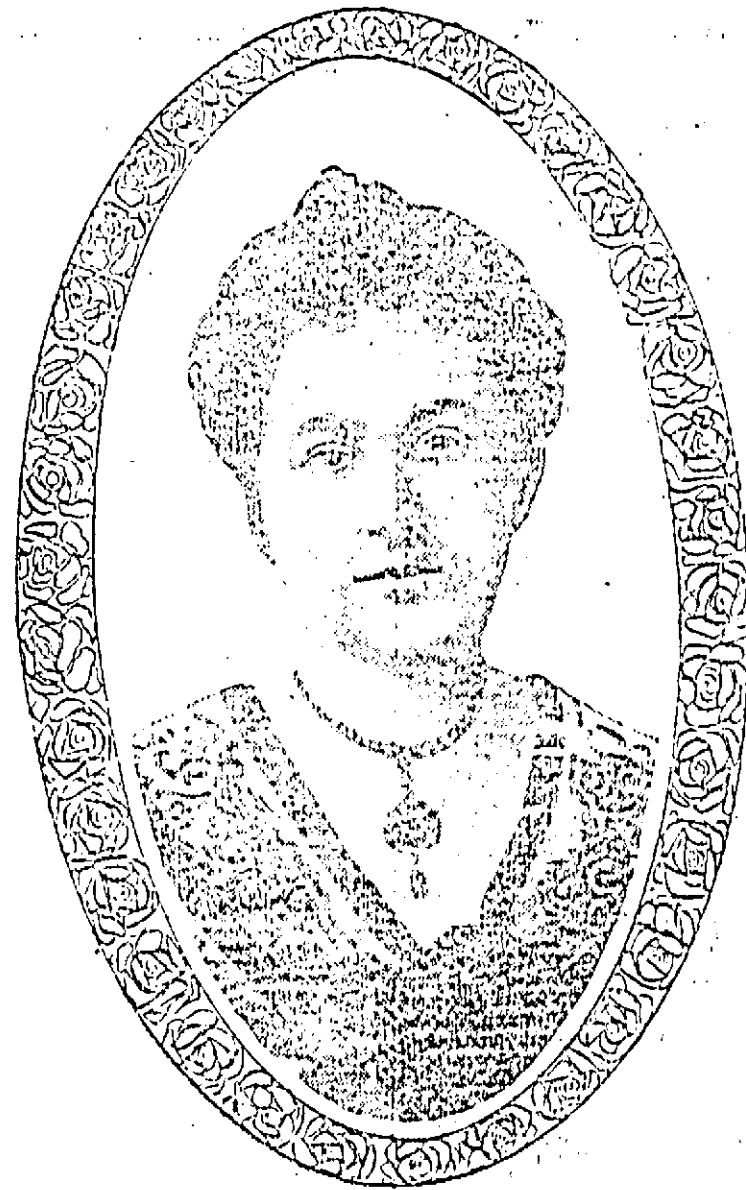

Among the scores of admirers who besieged the von Haake home was Pritchard, then 21 years old. His athletic figure, more than six feet two inches in height, was notable even among the Washington crowds, where there are so many big, erect men. He was then in his second year at Annapolis, having been appointed by Congressman Overstreet of Indiana. His home was in Indianapolis.

Every time Pritchard obtained leave of absence he ran down to Washington. Every time the Annapolis crew needed—the big middy rowed at number three—Miss Von Haake waved her blue flag and cheered.

A year and a half ago young Cathcart met Miss Von Haake in Philadelphia. He was then a student in the University of Pennsylvania. He took a small part in athletics, too, but he is by no means the striking figure Pritchard is.

Cathcart is a reticent, reserved young man. He was then about 23 years old.

Pretty Miss Von Haake and Cathcart were married last June in Newburgh on the Hudson, the bridegroom's home. Within a month the couple quarreled, but peace was made. In September Cathcart and his bride visited Philadelphia. The husband left the bride at the railway station while he went to look after baggage. When he returned she was gone.

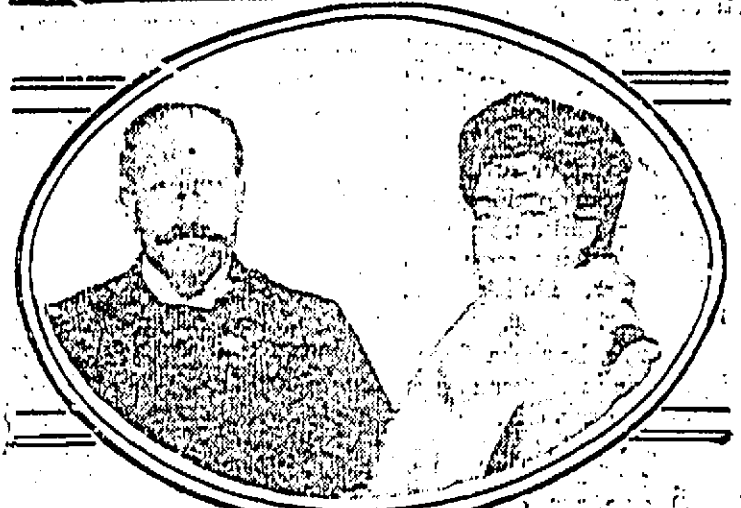

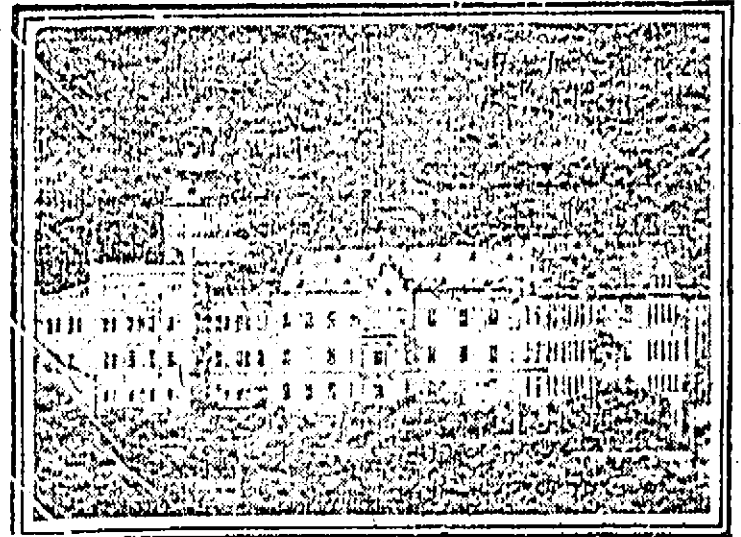

MRS. ZELLA NUTTALL, DISTINGUISHED ARCHAEOLOGIST.

America has cause to be proud of the accomplishments of Mrs. Zella Nuttall. She has gained a reputation in archaeology which is international. During the past 15 years she has devoted a considerable part of her study of Mexico and her work in Mexico is a recognized authority on this interesting old country.

Mrs. Nuttall's most valuable contribution to science is her latest book, "The Fundamental Principles of Old and New World Civilization." It is the result of 15 years of work, which at the start was undertaken through interest in the monograph on the swastika, the well known Indian cross. It was Mrs. Nuttall who discovered the relationship between the swastika and the "conchellation," from Major. This discovery caused her to change her plan. Teaching the course from this astronomical source she decided to incorporate the monograph in the work, which treats exhaustively of prehistoric cultures, beginning with that of America and continuing with the Asiatic and Egyptian and concluding with culture in general.

PRINCE FERDINAND OF BULGARIA AND HIS BRIDE AND THEIR CASTLE, OSTERSTEIN.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is one of the happiest men in Europe. He has just been happily married to Princess Olga and has made his beautiful castle the scene of joy and happiness. Day by day the prince, who has been termed the "Arabian" of Europe, sees his princely palace more and more and stronger politically. It is difficult to recall a time when there has not been trouble in the Balkans, and the unsettled condition is still causing the prince much worry; but he is generally liked and his marriage was very popular with the people, so that the prince and princess are today stronger in Bulgaria than ever before.

The castle is one of the most magnificent estates to be found among the Balkan states. Situated in the mountainous district, surrounded by forests, it presents an ideal setting for this home of Bulgaria's accepted ruler. The principality of Bulgaria is nominally under the suzerainty of the Ottoman empire, to which it pays annual tribute, but it is practically independent under guarantee of the great powers of Europe. It is the strongest of the Balkan states. Prince Ferdinand is the youngest son of the Prince of Sax-Coburg and Gotha. He was elected to the highest office by the national assembly in 1878.

ADMIRAL DEWEY AND WIFE VACATE "GIFT" MANSION

ADMIRAL Dewey and Mrs. Dewey have moved. The house on Rhode Island avenue which was presented to the admiral by the American people not long after the Manila bay victory finally has been vacated. Everybody remembers what resentment there was when the admiral made the people's gift over to his wife, and then in the face of the storm another transfer was made and the residence became the property of the admiral's son, or matters were so arranged that it would become his property eventually.

It is not wide of the mark, probably, to say that the Deweys stayed in the Rhode Island home for a much longer time than they were intended to stay. This dulls the edge of criticism and makes people forget, and so the Deweys, not long ago, quietly left the house on the avenue to take up a residence in the great dwelling at Sixteenth and K streets, where Mrs. Dewey resided when she was Mrs. Hazen, and from which Admiral Dewey took her to church to make her his wife.

Admiral Dewey is the ranking officer of the navy and as a full admiral he has a right which belongs to no other man of either service, not to remain on the active list until he sees fit to retire. From his rank it is expected, and therefore practically necessary, that when the admiral gives an entertainment it shall be a large one. It is only fair to say that the Rhode Island avenue house which was given him by the people was altogether too small for large gatherings.

The old Hazen residence into which the admiral and his wife have moved affords space enough for most elaborate entertainments. A series of dinners already has been announced.

PRESS AGENTS ANXIOUS TO SHOW IN WHITE HOUSE

was talking about giving private performances in the White House as a far-off dream, and, behold! Mindell has gone and done it. Not only that, but he got the president to bring in the French and Japanese ambassadors, the full tennis cabinet and a quorum of the real cabinet.

The stunt of bringing the Russian Giant to the White House and having the president shake hands with him is completely eclipsed, and Wells Hawks is tearing his hair over what he regarded as a brilliant play in having Maude Adams take fencing lessons with the president. Hawks is reported to have wired Secretary Loeb asking permission to give a performance of "Peter Pan" in the East room and offering to let the president play Hook the Pirate. Mr. Loeb refused to confirm the report, but the president is said to have begun reading the book of "Peter Pan" aloud, striding up and down the room and declaiming the pirate's lines to Kermit and Quentin, so there is some confidence in the report.

"Dan" Fishell is reported to have wired Loeb immediately after reading the report of Mindell's great stunt. Fishell wants to have a Barnum & Bailey performance in the White House grounds, with the president and the Japanese ambassador selling peanuts and red lemonade, and offers to let Quentin ride a hippopotamus. A counter-offer has been received. It is said, from Brady asking that Ringling Bros. be allowed to set up a monkey house in the East room for the Roosevelt children to play with, and that some special trapeze and acrobatic acts be given in the White House lot under the auspices of Theodore Jr.

England families of great prominence have died out. Over in the "Whispering Gallery" at the capitol, which, by the way, is nothing more or less than the old house of representatives, there is a little piece of metal set in one of the square blocks of the mar to floor and on it are these words: "John Quincy Adams. Here." This is the full inscription. The metal piece marks the spot where Adams fell dead after years of continued service in the house of representatives.

The value of the piece of metal is a few cents. Over in Massachusetts avenue there is the house of an enormously wealthy westerner. He built it, and as a part of the building material he used a block of rock containing many dollars' worth of gold. He glories in it and it is pointed out to Washington visitors. This westerner is a great man—in Washington society—just at present. They say that more people are interested in the millionaire's block of gold than are interested in John Quincy Adams' two inches of bronze. Adams, however, will be alive some centuries after this westerner is dead.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS AND A WESTERN MILLIONAIRE

CHARLES F. ADAMS, a descendant of John Quincy Adams, lives on Massachusetts avenue in a house formerly occupied by Bishop Hurst. His brother, Henry Adams, has a home next to that of Mrs. John Hay. You will find descendants of the second president of the United States all over the union, and the smaller number of them hear the name of Adams. It is a prolific family and it is a standing contradiction to the statement that all of the old New secretary of state been observed as it had been followed for several preceding terms. John Quincy Adams would have been the logical candidate, but there had grown up a disinclination with this semi-hereditary practice. The two other members of Monroe's cabinet were also candidates, namely, William H. Crawford, secretary of the treasury, and John C. Calhoun, secretary of war. Crawford was a citizen of Georgia and a man of large wealth. He had long served his nation as United States senator, minister to France, secretary of war and secretary of the treasury. Calhoun was the youngest candidate in point of years, being but 42. The west furnished a candidate in the person of Henry Clay of Kentucky, then serving as speaker of the lower house of congress. Lastly, the west and south had a candidate in General Andrew Jackson of Tennessee, who had already won distinction through an honorable war record. It is interesting to note that Jackson particularly represented a new element rising in the republican party. He was democratic in tendency and boasted that he alone came pure, untrammelled and unpledged from the people. His candidacy saw the real birth of the democratic wing of the old republican party.

It will be remembered that since 1800 presidential candidates had been nominated in congressional caucuses. This system had its faults, however, and the campaign of 1821 saw the first breaking away from it. Crawford alone was nominated in congressional caucuses and the system had fallen in such disfavor that at the meeting which nominated him scarcely one-third of the members attend. The balance of the candidates were nominated by state legislative resolutions. The attendant mixups demonstrated the necessity for a distinct method of making party nominations and provided the cause which led to the institution of party conventions.

Thus there were five candidates for the presidency in 1824. John Quincy Adams, William H. Crawford, John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay and Andrew Jackson. Before the campaign was well advanced Calhoun withdrew because of the assurance of an undisputed election to the vice presidency. True to this arrangement all of the factional powers united in making the promise to Calhoun and he was elected vice president by a substantial majority. But with four candidates remaining in the race for the presidency, it was natural, in view of the close divisions of interests, that no one candidate could receive a majority in the electoral college. Jackson led with 39, Adams came next with 87, then Crawford with 41, Clay bringing up the rear with 37. Jackson had received a plurality of the popular vote, which indicated he was the choice of the people, but under the constitution there was no election and for the second time in our history decision devolved upon the house of representatives voting by states.

As the constitution provided that the choice in such cases should be made from the three highest candidates on the list, Clay had to be dropped from the contest. Had his name come before the house, over which it must be remembered, he presided as speaker, it is practically certain he would have been promptly chosen, as his ascendancy over that body was well nigh complete. Thus eliminated from the contest before the house of representatives, Clay was left master of the situation with power to decide which one of his three rivals should be given the prize. It was well known that the representatives of those states which had cast their electoral vote for Clay originally, namely Kentucky, Missouri and Ohio, would now vote with him in the house and that many others would also follow his lead.

Clay was opposed to Jackson, whom he repeatedly stigmatized as a dangerous military chieftain. Crawford suffered a stroke of paralysis which physically eliminated him from the field of some possibilities. Thus there remained only John Quincy Adams and Adams accordingly inheriting the support of Clay, received the election. He was chosen by 13 states as against seven for Jackson and four for Crawford.

With the election of John Quincy Adams to the presidency, it is interesting to note that the candidate who had received the unquestionable plurality at the polls and the candidate who has received the highest electoral vote in the electoral college, was forced to submit to the choice of one of those who had been popularly defeated.

Hard to Do.
One of the hardest things for a husband to do is to arrange it so that the night he comes home into to supper his wife is also late in getting it ready. If this were possible, a great deal of unpleasant conversation would be spared.—Detroit Free Press.

Uncle Allen.
"Whether you believe in praying for rain or not," remarked Uncle Allen Sparks, "it's a thundering sight better—if you don't mind my putting it in that way—than scolding Providence because you don't get it."

Why Liquors Froth.
When liquors are bottled they contain a certain amount of sugar, which ferments through the action of minute pores or cells. These break the sugar up into liquid and carbonic acid gas when the cork is withdrawn and instantly makes its escape and, rising in bubbles, produces effervescence and froth.

Strive for Enlightenment.
As with nations, so with individuals—education counts. Enlightenment brings men to the front, into the white light of prosperity and fame, while ignorance keeps them in the back-ground, in the darkness of poverty and obscurity.

Money-Making Ways of Using Want Ads

To Buy or Sell Old Shoes

No one need be ashamed to buy Old Shoes. It is an economical thing to do. But you may not want to buy second-hand Shoes yourself. There are however, many people in this city who do. The best place to learn of these people is thru the use of our Classified Want Ads. A little ad inserted under the heading "Cast Off Clothing" is sure to get attention, and at an original cost of but a few pennies. Many women make "pin money" by gathering up all the Old Shoes of the home and selling in this way. The ones who see your ad call at your home, get what you have—and no one need know of the transaction but yourselves. And the most economical of all is the cost of the Want Ad itself. Maybe you can get satisfied simply by reading the column suggested, each day. It pays both to Read and Use.

If your teeth need much attention, you can save $5.00 to $10.00 on the job by having me do your work. I know what I'm talking about. My regular fees are much below those dictated in the agreement. Signed and adhered to by so many of the local dentists.

And my work I am not ashamed to have compared with any you may have in your mouth for which you probably have paid twice my fee.

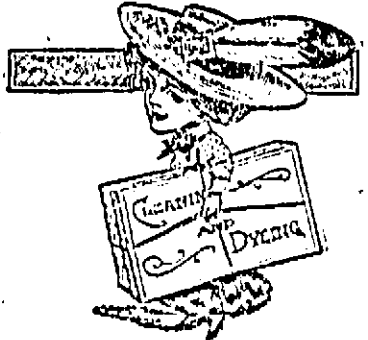

I put out good work, as is evidenced by my seeing teeth nearly every day which are now in the heat of repair, which I fixed up five to eight years ago.

SUGAR FACTORY STARTS ON 10TH FOR WINTER RUN

BEGINS SLICING ON SATURDAY
NEXT TO RUN ONE HUNDRED DAYS.

BEST QUALITY OF BEETS

That Have Ever Been Delivered at the Factory—Expect Fourteen Million Tons of Sugar.

With in the neighborhood of sixty thousand tons of sugar beets to work into some fourteen million pounds of sugar, the Rock County Sugar Company will begin slicing on Saturday next and expect to work night and day for at least a hundred days. It will mean employment to four hundred and fifty laborers in the two shifts and will put into circulation, in and about Janesville, close to a half million dollars or more.

Good Tests
Never before have the beets tested up as well and taking into consideration the fact that the price of five dollars per ton the sixty thousand tons will net the growers some three hundred thousand dollars more, and where the test runs higher it will bring the total up considerably. The average yield, per acre, is twelve tons, making sixty dollars for an acre and even more where the test shows a greater per cent of sucrose. Already several fields have run as high as $6.50 per ton and this is but the beginning.

Many Improvements
During the past summer the company has spent sixty thousand dollars in repairs and new machinery and a force of fifty men have been constantly employed making everything ready for the fall and winter work. In the best of some five hundred beets and thousands have been employed all during the growing season thinning and cultivating the beets, and will also aid in the harvest.

Supplied by Factory
This force of workmen have been supplied by the factory to the grower and have taken the places of the small boys who were used the first two or three years of the factory's existence here. They boarded themselves and lived in little families, women and children riding the head of the household in the labor in the field.

When running under these conditions some four hundred and fifty hands will be employed in the factory itself. These are divided into two forces, night and day. Two hundred will constitute the day force and two hundred and fifty the night. In the yards the labor is foreign—Australians, Hungarians and Germans. At present twenty-five are already on hand, the beets and when the rush season comes the number will be increased to sixty or sixty-five.

Happy Lot
This little colony lives in wooden frame houses, have their own news and are under the control of the "Padrone" who buys their supplies, manages their business and cooks their meals. They are drawn from the cities for the few months' work and look upon it as an outing, passing their leisure time in games and pleasures similar to that of a camping trip. Few understand English, leaving the talking to the Padrone.

Enjoy Life
They appear to enjoy life and are happy and contented. Their houses are warm and, from choice, they cook and eat out of doors. They are seldom sick and not quarrelsome and appear to consider their labors in the light of a respite from the life in the cities' crowded tenements.

Is Optimistic
Manager Osburn looks to a most successful season this year. His estimate is for a hundred-day run and he places the sugar to be made from the sixty odd thousand tons of beets at fourteen hundred pounds of sugar. "We will have the largest run of beets we have ever had with perhaps the exception of one year," he said this morning. "It will total some twenty thousand tons more than last year it is certain. I look for a heavy percentage of sugar. We usually figure on two hundred pounds to the ton, but this year it should run heavier if the present outlook continues."

Best Crop
"It is the best crop of beets we have ever had. The farmers have two contracts, one for a flat rate of five dollars per ton and one for the test contract. Already our delivery has been made under the test contract which shows $6.50 per ton for this crop. We are also starting earlier than last season. Then we began on the 15th of October and this year we start on the tenth."

Rushing Crops
For several days past beet crops have been rushed to the factory and by Saturday fully a thousand tons will be on hand to begin the slicing and preliminary work of sugar-making. The dry weather has somewhat delayed the harvest work but the rain of yesterday will loosen the soil so that they can be more easily handled. A two days' downpour would make it child's play, but at present the soil is packed down very tight and especially hard where it is clay.

Wagon Loads
While many of the beets will be delivered at the factory by the railroads, it is expected however that there will be a continuous stream of wagons from now until Christmas before the present crop is all delivered.

LOANI BAND HELD ANNUAL MEETING

At Congregational Church, Parlors Last Evening—Rev. Mr. Denison Told of Visit to Kobe College.
One hundred and fifty ladies belonging to the Loani Band, a missionary organization of the Congregational church, attended the annual meeting last evening. Supper was served in the church parlors at halfpast six o'clock and thereafter Rev. R. C. Denison described his recent visit to Kobe college, a Japanese institution of learning, which has been receiving financial support from the local missionary workers for some years past. He was able to tell many interesting facts regarding the education work conducted there and to convince his hearers that their efforts in its behalf had not been vain. The society elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss Frances Ryckman; Vice-President, Mrs. J. A. Craig; Treasurer, Miss Bertha Sayles; Social Secretary, Mrs. Olga O'Brien; Recording Secretary, Miss Grace Haden.

WRIGHT-WILKERSON WEDDING WAS TODAY

Miss Grace Wright and Fred R. Wilkerson Married at Two o'clock Today.

This afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents occurred the wedding of Miss Grace Wright and Fred R. Wilkerson, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Hazen of the Baptist church. The happy couple left for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home at the corner of Glenn and Cornelia streets.

Miss Wright is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wright. Mr. Wilkerson is in the shipping department of the Bassett & Bechtel firm. Both are well known in Janesville and their many friends extend congratulations.

MATRIMONIAL.

Mark-Rose
Miss Mabel A. Marks of Janesville and George H. Rose of Marquette City, Mich., were married yesterday at the home of the bride on Home Park avenue. The ceremony was performed at five o'clock by the Rev. Henry Willmann. The wedding party was composed of the Misses Emma and Matilda Larson of Janesville, Porter Marks of Janesville, and Abraham Rose, Frank Scheller, and Harry D. Marks of Marquette City, Mich. After the ceremony the couple left for a short trip and will make their home in Janesville during the coming winter.

Mrs. Rose formerly lived in Marquette City and moved here with her mother about two years ago. Mr. Rose is the night foreman at the Rock County Sugar company's plant. He is the mate on a lake steamer during the summer months.

CASH RESOURCES

The National Banking Law as well as the State Laws require that a bank must always have at least fifteen per cent of its deposits in cash, or due from approved reserve agents.

The government does not require a reserve against a United States deposit, our $200,000, cash resources, is therefore 31% of deposits.

Add to this $74,500 of unissued National Bank currency which we hold in our vaults ready for instant use and our cash on hand becomes 46% of our deposits, against which a reserve is required.

T. E. MITTEN, PRESIDENT OF THE CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY.

Thomas Eugene Mitten, president of the Chicago City railway, and one of the admitted experts in the street traction matters of America, is another living testimonial to American opportunity. Forty-three years ago Mr. Mitten was an English baby, without endowment or family position. When he was 15 years old he emigrated to the United States and worked four years on a farm. His day he plowed the fields and by night he learned telegraphy. He turned from the farm to the railroad and rapidly rose from freight and ticket agent to train dispatcher, then to trainmaster, then to claim adjuster, then to superintendent. While he was in Colorado he turned his attention to street railway matters, constructing several electric suburban lines, which proved so profitable that they definitely established Mr. Mitten's reputation as a street railroad man. Soon he was Almost immediately the gate was cautiously opened. A woman's head looked out, with surprise. "Oh, thank heaven!" it said, with abrupt fervor. "I was afraid it mightn't be you, Miss Sylvia. I'm so glad you're back. There ain't—hasn't been a minute these past two nights that I haven't been in a fidget."

The girl laughed quietly and passed through the gateway (which was closed behind her) into the basement hall, where she lingered a brief moment.

"My father, Annie?" she inquired. "He ain't—hasn't stirred since you went out, Miss Sylvia. He's sleepin' peaceful as a lamb."

"Everything is all right, then?" "Now that you're home, it is, praise be!" The servant accented the inner door and turned up the gas. "Not if I was to be given notice to-morrow mornin'," she announced, firmly, "will I ever consent to be a party to such goin'-on another night."

"There will be no occasion, Annie," said the girl. "Thank you, and—good night."

A resigned sigh—"Good night, Miss Sylvia"—followed her up the stairs. She went very cautiously, careful to brush against no article of movable furniture in the hall, at pains to make no noise on the stairs. At the door of her father's room on the second floor she stopped and listened for a full moment; but he was sleeping as quietly, as soundly, as the servant had declared. Then on, more hurriedly, up another flight, to her own room, where she turned on the electric bulb in panic haste. For it had just occurred to her that the telephone bell might ring before she could change her clothing and get downstairs and shut herself into the library, whose closed door would prevent the bell from being audible through the house.

In less than ten minutes she was stealing silently down to the drawing room floor again, quiet as a spirit of the night. The library door shut without a sound; for the first time she breathed freely. Then, pressing the button on the wall, she switched on the light in the drop-lamp on the center table. The telephone stood beside it.

She drew up a chair and sat down near the instrument, ready to lift the receiver off its hook the instant the bell began to sound; and waited, the soft light burning in the loosened tresses of her hair, enhancing the soft color that pulsed in her cheeks, fading before the joy that lived in her eyes when she hoped.

For she dared hope—at times; and at times could not but fear. So greatly had she dared, who greatly loved, so heavy upon her untarnished heart was the burden of the sin that she had put upon it, because she loved. Perhaps he would not call; perhaps the world was to turn cold and be forever gray to her eyes. He was even then deciding; at that very moment her happiness hung in the scales of his mercy. If he could forgive.

There was a click. And her face flamed scarlet, as hastily she lifted the receiver to her ear. The armature buzzed sharply. Then central's voice cut the silence.

"Hello! Nine-o-five-one!"

"Yes."

"Wait a minute."

She waited, breathless, in a quiver. The silence sang upon the wire, the silence of the night through which he was groping toward her.

"Hello! Is this line—"

"Yes, yes!"

"Is this the residence of Alexander C. Graeme?"

"Yes." The syllable almost choked her.

"Is this Miss Graeme at the phone?"

"It is."

"Miss Sylvia Graeme?"

"Yes."

"This is Daniel Maitland—Sylvia!"

"As if I did not know your voice!" she cried, involuntarily.

There followed a little pause; and in her throat the pulses tightened and drummed.

"I have opened the bag, Sylvia—"

"Please go on."

"And I've sounded the depths of your hideous infamy!"

"Oh!" He was laughing.

"I've done more. I've made a burnt offering within the last five minutes. Can you guess what it is?"

"I—I—don't want to guess! I want to be told."

"A burnt offering on the altar of your happiness, dear. The papers in the case of the Dougherty Investment Company no longer exist."

"Dan!"

"Sylvia—Does it please you?"

"Don't you know? How can it do anything but please me? If you know how I have suffered because my father suffered, fearing the—No, but you must listen! Dan, it was wearing him down to his grave, and I thought—"

"You thought that if you could get the papers and give them to him—"

"Yes. I could see no harm, because he was as innocent as you—"

"Of course. But why didn't you ask me?"

"He did, and you refused."

"But how could I tell, Sylvia, that you were his daughter, and that I should—"

"Hush! Central will hear!"

"Central's got other things to do, besides listening to early morning confabulations. I love you."

"Dan."

"Yes?"

"I love—to hear you say so, dear."

"Please say that last word, over again. I didn't get it."

"Dear."

"And that means that you'll marry me?"

A pause.

"I say, that means—"

"I heard you, Dan."

"But it does, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"Whenever you please."

"It comes up now."

"Don't be silly."

"Well, when then? To-day?"

"Yes—no!"

"But when?"

"To-morrow—I mean next week—I mean next month."

"No; today at four. I'll call for you."

"But, Dan."

"Sweetheart!"

"But you mustn't! How can I—"

"Easily enough. There's the Little Church-Around-the-Corner—"

"But I've nothing to wear!"

"Oh!"

Another pause.

"Dan. You don't wish it—truly?"

"I do wish it, truly. To-day, at four. The Church of the Transfiguration. Yes, I'll scare up a best man if you'll find bridesmaids. Now you will, won't you?"

"If you wish it, dear."

"I'll have to ask you to repeat that."

"I shan't. There!"

"Very well," mockingly. "But will you tell me one thing, please?"

"What is it?"

"Where on earth did you get hold of that kit of tools?"

She laughed softly. "My big brother caught a burglar once, and kept the kit for a remembrance. I borrowed them."

"Give me your big brother's address and I'll send 'em back with my thanks—"

"No, by George! I won't, either. I've as much right to keep 'em as he has on that principle."

And again she laughed, very gently and happily. Dear God, that such happiness could come to one!

"Sylvia?"

"Yes, dear?"

"Do you love me?"

"I think you may believe it, when I sit here at four o'clock in the morning, listening to a silly boy talk nonsense over a telephone wire."

"But I want to hear you say so!"

"But central—"

"I tell you central has other things to do!"

At this juncture the voice of central, jaded and acculturated, broke in curtly:

"Are you through?"

"THE END."

SWEARS OFF ON TIPPING.

John W. Gates Discovers That He Has Been "Stung."

John W. Gates has sworn off tipping hotel employees. He says, however, that he may give a tip to an extra good waiter on an extra good dinner. It happened this way:

A matter of a hundred or more letters and telegrams arrive every day at the Plaza for Mr. Gates. He has been in the habit of giving 25 cents per letter or telegram when delivered to his room or in any part of the hotel by a bellboy.

"I never gave much thought to what this habit cost me," said Mr. Gates, "but I guess I have been 'stung' to a very nice extent."

The bellboys at the Waldorf and Plaza, where Mr. Gates has made his headquarters, discovered this 25-cent habit. Perhaps several letters would arrive at one time. The bellboys would stamp them at intervals of one or two minutes apart, and a long line of boys would keep busy making their way to the room of Mr. Gates. Each arrival meant a new quarter.

That day Mr. Gates had an unusual number of telegrams. It so happened that one arriving at 11:55 did not reach him until 1:05. It was dated at noon.

Mr. Gates was just a bit provoked and started an investigation. Then he discovered that his letters and telegrams always arrived one at a time.

"Guess that is going some," said Mr. Gates—"going fast enough anyway to keep me from giving any more tips in a hotel. I go on record now and forever as swearing I will never give a tip in a hotel, no matter where I am."

In Bohemia.

Come strange and unaccountable things are done in the name of "Bohemia," said the Bohemian. "The other night at a club the engagement was announced of an artist and a writer who is a widow. At the same time a new book by the writer was exhibited at the club. The book was lovingly dedicated to her dearly beloved, much-mourned and never-to-be-forgotten departed and illustrated by the artist husband that is to be."

BRYAN ADDRESSES CROWDS OF IOWANS

DECLARES HE HAS OUTLIVED "VENOMOUS ATTACKS."

TAFT IS BITTERLY SCORED

Republican Candidate Winds Up His Western Tour with Great Meetings in St. Louis and Vicinity.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 7.—"I present myself as an example of one who has outlived the venomous attacks of his opponents. You heard me called a demagogue 12 years ago. You saw them bury me and you heard them chant their songs over my grave, and now they have to explain why it happened that I was not dead."

With all the fervor that he could muster up, William J. Bryan, facing a vast assemblage in the Chautauque auditorium between Tama and Toledo, in this state Tuesday, delivered himself of this utterance. At no time during the present campaign has he spoken so earnestly or with such vigor. His remark followed a bitter denunciation of Mr. Taft for refusing to agree to a publication of campaign contributions before elections. "No honest man and no political party conducting an honest campaign," he declared, "need be afraid of the light."

Ridicules the Republicans. At Woodward he heaped ridicule on the Republicans by charging them with taking credit for the growth of crops, the shining of the sun and the bringing of rain. In fact, he said, "they seize upon anything that they think gives a plausible excuse for voting the Republican ticket."

Drawing large, cheering crowds all day in the course of his travels through the state, the Democratic candidate, never in better form, hurled defiance at his opponents and challenged them to meet his arguments. Fifteen speeches and handshaking with thousands constituted his day's work, the concluding speech being made here in the Auditorium, which was filled to overflowing.

Taft Ends Western Tour. St. Louis, Oct. 7.—With a 12-hour demonstration of cordiality, political enthusiasm and intense interest, this city Tuesday furnished an appropriate climax to the western campaign trip of William J. Taft, which ended here.

The candidate spoke to an immense audience in the nearly finished Coliseum, from which as many were turned away as got in. He followed this with an open-air address at Clayton, a suburb and county seat of St. Louis county, and then rushed to East St. Louis, where he addressed a large gathering of employees of the stockyards. The local papers estimated that fully 60,000 strangers came to the city just to say "Hello, Bill" to the Ohioan.

At Valedictorian's Ball. The ball of the Valedictorian, which is the great society event of the carnival, was made decidedly more popular by the announcement that the candidate would be there. Mr. Taft visited the ball for a few minutes, but did not participate in the festivities.

Before reaching St. Louis, Mr. Taft had a strenuous day in a number of Missouri towns.

Mr. Taft left St. Louis at one o'clock Tuesday night for Chicago, where he will address the Deep Waters convention, go to Galesburg to attend the celebration of the Lincoln-Douglas debate, and then return to Chicago in time for a banquet at which Mr. Bryan is also to be a guest.

Chairman Mack Is Ill. Chicago, Oct. 7.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, collapsed in his room at the Auditorium Annex hotel Tuesday night from overwork, a hard cold and a chill.

At a late hour Dr. Hammond, house physician, said Mr. Mack would rally speedily from his sickness.

AFTER ST. LOUIS PADRONES.

Three Arrested for Violating the Immigration Laws.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—That more than 300 Greek boys who work in St. Louis bootblack stands are held in practical slavery by padrones, who pay them one dollar a day for 18 hours work and search their pockets for tips every night, is the information on which warrants were issued Tuesday by United States Commissioner Morsey for Peter Anagnostis, John Mavroukas and James Chiffores.

They are charged with conspiracy to violate the immigration laws by bringing Greek boys into the country under false pretenses.

GALLERY FALLS; MANY INJURED.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 7.—A score of persons were more or less seriously injured Tuesday just as Hooker T. Washington closed his address at the Coliseum on the fair grounds. As the crowd surged to leave, one section of the gallery gave way with a crash, and the occupants were precipitated to the floor beneath.

Russian Robbers Kill Twelve.

Tripoli, Russia, Oct. 7.—Robbers have committed a revolting crime in the neighboring village of Slobodze. They entered the house of a Jewish family named Cohen and killed 12 persons in their efforts to get away with small amount of loot. The murderers were arrested.

Of Man.

Unless above himself he can erect himself, how poor a thing is man—Dryden.

PASTORIUS IS HONORED

MONUMENT TO FIRST GERMAN IMMIGRANT UNVEILED.

Philadelphia's Celebration Shifted to Germantown for Day—Police and Firemen Parade.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—Another day of cloudless skies, of brilliant sunshine and crisp autumnal weather marked the continuance Tuesday of the celebration of Philadelphia's "Founders' week." The entire morning was given over to the German-American citizens, who paid homage to the memory of the first immigrant from Germany to American shores.

This part of the celebration had its center in Germantown, where there was a parade many miles long and where the cornerstone of the monument to be erected in honor of Francis Daniel Pastorius in Vernon park was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. President Roosevelt sent felicitations; the German embassy at Washington was represented by an attaché, Gov. Stuart paid Pennsylvania's tribute, and Mayor Royburn spoke in eulogy of the German residents of the city. Prominent German-Americans from all parts of the country attended the celebration.

The feature of the afternoon was a parade down Broad street of the police, firemen and letter carriers of the city, the state constabulary and volunteer fire companies from many of the neighboring towns and villages.

Wednesday is industrial day and two of the most interesting pageants of the celebration are scheduled. In the afternoon the manufacturing interests of the city will be represented by industrial floats. At night the laboring men will have a parade of floats and marching bodies.

WRIGHT FULFILLS CONTRACT.

Record-Breaking Flight Satisfies Conditions Imposed by Weller.

Le Mans, Oct. 7.—Wilbur Wright, who on Saturday last established a world's record for an airplane flight carrying one passenger, made a new record Tuesday afternoon when, under similar conditions, he remained in the air for one hour, four minutes and 26 seconds. His best previous record with a passenger was 55 minutes, 37 seconds.

Mr. Wright thus fulfills the conditions of the contract signed by him and Lazare Weller, representing a syndicate, whereby Mr. Wright was required to make two flights within a week with a passenger, or equivalent in weight, of 50 kilograms each.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Aerial navigation as an auxiliary to the naval service is contemplated in specifications for four flying machines for which proposals for construction will be asked. The specifications require that each machine shall carry two persons of a combined weight of 350 pounds, a sufficient supply of fuel for the start for a flight of at least 200 miles, for a period of four hours at an average speed of not less than 40 miles an hour and to remain continuously in the air during the trial. They are to be so constructed as to be able to alight without danger, on land or on water, to float on the latter when at rest, without wetting any of the air-supporting or controlling areas, and to be able to rise therefrom without appreciable delay under their own power without the aid of special starting apparatus.

Will Dispose of $20,000,000.

Marysville, Cal., Oct. 7.—The will of John Q. Packard, who died at Santa Cruz Saturday, was filed for probate in the superior court here Tuesday. The value of the estate is estimated at $20,000,000, equally divided between Edward Winslow Packard of Salt Lake and Theodore H. Shear of New York city, after 12 bequests of $10,000 each to relatives are provided for.

Augustus D. Lynch Is Dead.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Augustus D. Lynch, formerly of Indianapolis, for 36 years connected with the comptroller's office of the treasury department, died here Tuesday. He was 72 years old.

MRS. YATES PASSES AWAY.

Widow of War Governor of Illinois Is Dead.

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Richard Yates, mother of former Gov. Yates and wife of the Illinois war governor, died Tuesday afternoon at the age of 86 years. Her illness dates back to two years ago, when she fell and fractured her hip. Since that time she had been gradually failing. She took great interest in politics, both state and national.

Bostonians Banquet in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—Graced by a display of gold lace and military show seldom before equalled at a local gathering, the banquet of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, which was held Tuesday night at the Hotel Pontchartrain, was a notable affair. The 275 members of the organization, who arrived here for their semi-annual meeting, left Wednesday morning for the east.

Vices and Virtues.

Do not consider any vice as trivial, and therefore practice it; do not consider any virtue as unimportant, and therefore neglect it.—Bonar.

A Day with Dollars in It.

"It was such clear, bright, beautiful weather yesterday," says a Georgia editor, "that you could see a silver dollar half a mile, with a bill collector ten steps behind it—and, of course, he had a better chance to get it than you had. Heaven send us more beautiful weather, and more silver dollars!"—Atlanta Constitution.

CASTRO SERIOUSLY ILL.

Venezuelan President May Have to Surrender Reins of Government.

Willemstad, Curacao, Oct. 7.—It is reported here from Venezuela that President Castro is seriously ill and that the government of Venezuela probably soon will have to be turned over to the vice-president of that republic.

The illness of President Castro was confirmed later in the day by passengers from Caracas, who declared him to be suffering from an affection of the liver and kidneys. His physicians have not been able to agree whether to perform an operation or not.

The Hague, Oct. 7.—Should Holland decide to blockade Venezuela, the blockade will be directed especially against La Guaira, Porto Cabello and Maracaibo. The government has discussed the possibility of Castro's seizing Curacao, but former Minister De Beus declares that would be impracticable, the Venezuelan troops being only adapted for guerilla warfare.

SLAIN BY SISTER-IN-LAW.

Capt. Erb, Prominent Philadelphia Politician, Shot During Family Quarrel.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—J. Clayton Erb, captain and regimental quartermaster of the Third regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, was shot and killed at his summer home near Village Green, Delaware county, Tuesday night. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Hebel, is under arrest in the Media jail, charged with the murder. The woman admits that she did the shooting during a family quarrel.

Capt. Erb, who was private secretary to Israel W. Durham, political leader of this city, was one of the best known men in political circles in Philadelphia. About two years ago he was married and moved to Delaware county. For a time everything went along smoothly, but recently there were family quarrels.

Two More "Dry" Ohio Counties.

Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—Two more counties held elections Tuesday under the Ross law, and both went dry. Paulding county voted out 12 saloons by a majority of 1,162, and Wyandot county voted out 50 saloons by a majority of only 60.

Bandits Rob a Bank of $2,300.

Olivia, Minn., Oct. 7.—The State bank of Danube was burglarized Tuesday. Twenty-three hundred dollars in cash was taken.

LEAGUE BASEBALL RESULTS.

For the first time in the history of the National League of Baseball Clubs, a post-season game for the settlement of the championship is announced for Thursday of this week, the game that arose over the last series in New York between the New York and Chicago clubs, having brought a decision Tuesday from the National league directors at Cincinnati to that effect. For nearly two days and a large part of one night, the directors listened to evidence, and considered the matter in its various phases.

Two protests were up for decision, on appeals from the ruling of President Pulliam. New York appealed from the decision sustaining the ruling of the umpires that a game played September 23 was a tie, and the second appeal was by Chicago from the decision that they were not entitled to a forfeited game score under the league constitution. In both cases the league president was sustained.

New York won another game Tuesday from Boston, thus coming a step nearer to a tie with Chicago, not considering the play-off on Thursday.

In the American League Detroit won the pennant and the right to take part in the world's championship series by defeating Chicago, 7 to 0.

Detroit gave itself up to wild rejoicings over the victory of its team. There were bonfires all over the city, the mayor sent a special message to the council and that body adopted resolutions congratulating Manager Jennings and his men.

Desperado Gets Fifty Years. Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 7.—Yates Standridge, one of the most desperate criminals in the Arkansas penitentiary, who Saturday was taken to Jasper in log-chains, entered a plea of guilty to two charges of murder in the second degree and one of assault to kill, and received a sentence of 50 years. Standridge, who was in the penitentiary for shooting an officer at Russellville, escaped and killed two men and wounded another.

BITS OF HUMOR

IN THE GRANDSTAND. "That was fine. He just stole second and third. She threw that game!" He's got a lot of nerve with all those policemen around.

JUST A CHEAP ONE.

He had made a fair speech in favor of his political candidate for governor and against the other, and when he had finished a friend stepped forward and shook hands with him and said:

"I want to compliment you on your effort. It was great."

"Then you liked my remarks, eh?" "They were long," I didn't know it was in you to utter the way you did."

"Oh, I did fairly well, I guess. But you must remember at the same time that this was only a cheap speech. The regular center folded them, and they ran me over for $15. Of course, I could not spread myself for that. Say, I wish I had been making a regular $25 speech. If I had been I should have called the opposition candidate a liar."

"I should have shown his utter unfitness for office."

"I should have proved that his election would ruin the country."

"I should have advanced statistics to clinch the issue."

"I should have appealed to my hearers' pride."

"I should have made a state of anarchy and anarchy."

"I should have summoned every patriot in the audience to go to the polls early and vote for American liberty."

"I should have trotted out Bunker Hill, the American eagle and the Star-spangled banner and waved them around until men would have burst a lung in cheering for them."

"I said, this was only a cheap effort—few remarks for $15, but if they have pleased you and strengthened your belief in our cause, why—why—"

And they drank together and flattered out that the country was saved again.

Don't Take Your Carpets Up To Be Cleaned

We clean by electricity! Our machine is attached to your electric light socket and will draw out all the dust and dirt in your carpet. The cost is 75c an hour. We estimate to clean a 11x12 room in an hour. This machine is small and can be rolled into any room. There is no dirt, or dust, or tearing up connected with the work and in the end is the cheapest way. If you do not have electric light in your house we cannot use the machine.

We clean carpets at our Fluff Rug factory by machine that takes out every bit of the dust and dirt at a cost of 2c a yard or 3c for heavy Brussels.

We call for and deliver the same day.

Your Friends, The Candidates, Will Want Them And They Are Yours For The Asking.

If You Are A Candidate Don't Be One Of The Receptive Kind. Go Out After The Votes. That Is The Way and The Only Way To Win A Trip To Europe Or One Of The Other Prizes. Many Certificates Issued Every Day.

EACH CANDIDATE sending or bringing to the Gazette office five NEW yearly subscriptions by Oct. 19th, at 9 P. M., will be given a ballot for 10,000 extra votes—five NEW six months' subscriptions will entitle you to 5,000 extra votes. One yearly will count as two six months' subscriptions. Five new yearly or five new six months' subscriptions will constitute a CLUB. Don't be satisfied with a few Clubs, get as many as you can.

Owing to the inclement weather yesterday the voting was very light, but there was evidently considerable doing in the country in the way of collecting upon subscriptions both new and old, judging from the contest man's mail this morning.

The candidates are now thoroughly alive to the situation and a red hot scramble for votes is sure to follow. The interests being aroused by the many contenders for the honors will put the forces of Bryan and Taft to shame. The question now before the people of this vicinity is not who will go to the White House, but who will go to Europe? If it's to be you, you'll have to get busy.

The Arts in General and in Particular
About Landscape Gardening.

The value of everything that approaches the beautiful is enhanced by an appropriate setting. The most beautiful flower of nature is improved by its surrounding of delicate tinted green foliage. The artist, when exhibiting his most perfect artistic representation of nature, places it, if possible, with a surrounding which will measureably attract the eye, and yet cast upon the picture an enhanced breadth and height of coloring, combined with the softness which nature in her dazy moods gives to all her productions.

Woman in all her beauty is rendered even more attractive in a setting of appropriate colors and forms of dress; and who be to the taste of a blonde who, robbing herself in light blue, seeks to decorate her face with a common phrase, would be "dreadful," while the use of a pale pink would light up and dispel the pallid moonshine of the blue, and give to all a rich, pearly, lacy, rosy hue, as of early morn.

These lights and shades being well understood in our artificial "role," it would appear that in the more permanent matters of life, such as the decorations of our daily homes, they should have control; yet we too frequently find a mansion residence constructed after the best taste and truest principles of architecture, with its surrounding fitting as inappropriate as a bright yellow would be for a lady's walking dress.

and harmony necessary to an effective whole.

It is not expected that every man will or can be a landscapist, any more than he can be a lawyer or physician; but he should have sufficient love for his own home to induce him to study the principles of the art, so as to be able to appreciate the reasons for arrangements of designs submitted by a landscapist artist. A spirit of independence, a pride and love for the creation of one's own should induce every citizen to the improvement by judicious planting of his home grounds. Where this condition of things, rapidity and beauty of new home surroundings would be greatly enhanced, and many grounds that now receive frequent remodeling would exhibit more gratifying results within a period of five to six years from first planting.

It may be pleasant to pass through an apprenticeship of learning by practice the character of tree and plant, the requisite breath of lawn or road to give the best effect, or to arrange them in one harmonious whole, but it consumes years of time and is a knowledge which may be bought and made applicable whenever the purchaser has his ground ready for its practice. These prefatory remarks are an antidote against one of the most common errors in landscape gardening, viz: that of mixing herbaceous flowers with shrubs and trees; by which neither can thrive properly; or if they do, the effect of the one is injured by that of the other. However pleasing near the house so that more or less of views from the windows of the house will look down upon them. Various patterns for the arrangement of the beds and paths are found in all works on landscape gardening, but in copying them thought should be taken as to their adaptation to the position or form of boundary in which they are to be placed.

The Vergo or Walks and Roads should always be made as inconspicuous as possible. The less the vergo is elevated above the walk, the less we have of harsh line to break the smoothness and harmony of blending from lawn to roadway or flowerbed. Some gardeners seem to think that a strong, harsh line, or verge of two inches deep or more, next the path, is a mark of skill; but to my taste it is only an exhibit of mechanical labor breaking in upon the softness of nature's own laws, which always resolve into one another without any harsh or offending feature. The vergo to a path should rise from the path just as little as possible, if even extra care have been taken to cut each line sloping underneath, as it were, so that when the roller is passed over it, the line of demarcation will be perceptible only by the change of gravel to turf.

KEEP THE SURFACE OF THE GROUND LOOSE—I have many years watched the varied results of the action of water who keep frequently stirring the surface of his soil, and the one who does not cultivate only when the weeds compel him to work; and as I have watched and recorded my notes, the result has always been in favor of the constant stirring of the surface soil. I do not advocate deep tillage during the growing season, but I would have the ground deeply and thoroughly stirred early in the season, whether it were an old or new plantation. Once, however, that vigorous growth of top and root has commenced, all deep tillage should cease, because, by pursuing it, constant and continued checks are given, and a truly healthy growth prevented by repeated breaking and tearing up under the roots and fibrous the supplying places for elongation, expansion and evaporation of the branches and leaves. Its repeated surface stirring of the soil, however, no roots are broken; the air and moisture are enabled to penetrate and assist in the chemical transmutation of the earth's compounds, and fitting them for absorption by the roots.

PROTECT THE CROWNS OF TREES—Experience is a good teacher, and it has taught me that the action of severe frosts, followed by rapid thawing on the surface roots and crowns of trees, creates very great injury, often resulting in death. I have known trees healthy on approach of winter, and the same when dug in spring; I have found them with all the top and the lower roots uninjured, but the crown and surface roots entirely blackened and dead. This is often a result with grape vines—in fact, I have seen hundreds of vines exhibit this condition. During the past autumn I have repeatedly urged the earthing up to the crown of trees and plants, with a view to prevention of this result. I now say, look over your trees carefully, and if you have not turned the earth toward them, thus covering the surface roots and crowns two or three inches deeper than their position during the growing season, you should now do it by a mulch of

TREE HYDRANGEA

Pride of Rochester. A new variety of white flowers; the back of the petals being slightly tinged with rose; it exceeds all of the older sorts in size of flower, length of panicle, profuseness of bloom and vigorous habit; regarded as a charming acquisition.

There are many amateurs whose minds are open to conviction and inclined to truth, but whose powers of observation are not sufficient to enable them to discover what is right and appropriate, until it is pointed out to them.

The art of composition embraced in Landscape Gardening has certain principles which go towards forming a unity of the whole, and from which no deviation can be made without marring the result. Taste may be possessed in a greater or less degree; but without reference to principles it will fail to create a design of harmonious proportion or association. It is to be regretted that so little attention is given to the subject of principle and arrangement of tree, shrub, flower and path, as a whole in the decoration of our homes. Thousands on thousands of dollars are yearly expended in the creation of new places that have to be again remodelled because of apparent want, when completed, of congeniality end of the fruit. As soon as the eggs hatch the larva eats its way into the young fruit; the rest of the story is well known to every one.

Remedies.—Spray the trees with Paris Green or London Purple at the rate of one pound to 250 gallons of water, and use one and a half pounds of lime when the flowers are falling and again when the fruit is the size of peas.

The Canker Worm.

This pestilent worm eats the green portion of the leaf, giving the tree a brownish color, as though scorched by fire. The worms appear in early spring, and when full grown, are an inch long.

Remedies.—Spray the trees when the leaves are one-third grown, with Paris Green solution, one pound to 250 gallons of water, and add one and a half pounds of lime. Usually one spraying will be sufficient, but if the worms appear to be on the increase, a second application will be advisable.

Apple Tree Tent-Catepillar.

The large silken nests made by this insect are familiar to every one. The caterpillars appear in May or June, and in five or six weeks have attained their full size. Remedies.—Cut out and burn the nests as soon as they are seen, taking the precaution to do this in the morning when the caterpillars are all in. This, together with one or two sprayings of Paris Green solution, having a strength of one pound to 250 gallons of water, and one and a half pounds of lime, will effectually rid the trees of the pest.

The Apple Aphid.

Apple trees are often attacked early in the season by this insect. The lice are quite small and green in color. By sucking the juices from the young growth they greatly interfere with the functions of the latter, and as a result the tree has a sickly, yellow appearance.

Remedies.—Spray with kerosene emulsion at the rate of one gallon to twenty of water, as soon as the lice appear. Repeat the treatment eight or ten days if necessary. A decoction made by soaking over night four or five pounds of tobacco stems, or refuse tobacco of any kind, in five gallons of water, will also be found an excellent remedy against the lice.

The Oyster Shell Bark Louse.

There are frequently seen on the trunks, branches and twigs of the apple tree small, whitish shells, resembling in shape those of an oyster. Under these shells are numerous small lice busily engaged in sucking the sap from the tree.

Remedies.—Scrape the trees thoroughly in spring before the leaves appear, and then paint the trunk and large limbs with a thick solution made by dissolving one quart of soft soap in half a gallon of hot water. Two ounces of crude carbolic acid plum. The Pear Tree Ring also attacks the leaves, while the fruit is infested by the Plum Curculio.

Remedies.—The remedies given under peach and pear insects should be adopted in this case.

Black Knot

Cherry trees are affected with Black Knot the same as the plum trees, and the same remedies should be used.

Insects Affecting the Currant and Gooseberry.—The Currant Worm.

The perfect form of the worm is a small fly, which lays its eggs on the leaves in early spring. As soon as the eggs hatch, the worms eat circular holes in the foliage. As the worms increase in size, they become more voracious, often riddling the leaves.

Remedies.—As soon as the worms are seen, spray the plants with a solution made by mixing one ounce of kerosene in two gallons of water.

The Currant Aphid.

The insect attacks the leaves, causing them to curl and turn brown. The lice are usually abundant in early summer, but as hot weather advances they disappear.

Remedies.—Spray with kerosene emulsion, one gallon to twenty gallons of water, as soon as the lice are noticed.

Insects Affecting the Rose.

The Rose Bug.—The same as sometimes attacks the grape. Remedies.—The same.

The Black Aphid.—The same that attacks the apple. Remedies.—The same.

The Black Aphid.—The same that attacks the peach and other trees. Remedies.—The same.

ADVANTAGES OF FALL DELIVERY OF NURSERY STOCK.

What a Leading Horticultural Journal Says:

"In our own experience the best success has resulted in transplanting trees and shrubs in the fall, to properly prepared soil, and giving winter protection by mulching with litter or leaves. Such subjects usually start to grow promptly in spring, and have already made a fine growth before spring planted trees have started. We do not hesitate to advise fall planting."—The American Nurseryman.

Some of the reasons why experienced planters like to buy for fall delivery are as follows:

1. All kinds of stock (except trees) do well when planted in the fall.
2. The ground is in much better condition in the fall, being mellow and warm.
3. Before spring stock which has been planted in the fall, gets well established in its new position and so gets an early start, and makes a larger growth in the first season while the stock planted in the spring loses considerable valuable time in getting established in its new quarters.
4. Stock is completely dormant in the fall and therefore can be easily and safely handled, while in the spring the weather often comes off warm so early as to

As a Matter of Insurance, a man cannot afford to buy anything but the best warranted Nursery stock.

It is a general rule, which can be relied on, that "cheap" stock is worthless and therefore dear at any price. If a man won't pay for good stock but buys cheap stock in order to save money, he is very sure to lose all he puts into it.

Unhealthy Stock.—It is surprising what an amount of unhealthy stock, black-kneed, infested with fungus, black knots, etc., is worked off on those foolish people who buy cheaply at the bait of "cheap prices" which is offered them. Of course such stuff is a total loss every time.

We cannot get something for nothing.

Now, in conclusion, did you ever stop to consider that this is not a world where we can get something for nothing, and where an article is offered at an extraordinary low price, there must be some good reason for it?

The very simple reason is that the article is of bad quality it cannot be sold in competition with first-class goods, and is therefore necessarily worked off on the public at a low rate to catch those people who will bite at anything cheap without regard to quality. Such people have got about, however, they waste their money on poor trash that gives them no "value received" for their outlay.

I don't pretend to compete with "cheap" stock, as I will not send out inferior stock at any price. What I really do, is to furnish the very best grade of genuine stock at as low prices as other responsible firms furnish the same grade of stock.

FOR OPENING FRUIT JARS

Wrench Makes It Possible to Unscrew Tight Tops With Ease.

Any person who has ever struggled with a fruit jar that had the lid stuck will be grateful to the Idaho man who has given us the fruit jar opener. This device is constructed on the principle of a pair of pliers, and the jaws, which are semicircular and made to fit around the top of a jar, are serrated in such a way as to obtain a firm grip. Herebefore it was impossible to get a good purchase on the top, as the hand would slip before the top would turn. If the latter stuck very badly, then, too, the opener eliminates all danger of cutting the hands on the metal of the top or the glass of the jar. Many a case of blood-poisoning has developed from a wound sustained in this way, and taking a different view of the case, many a family has sat down to the table without preservers because the jars could not be opened. In the old days a prolonged working in hot water was the only remedy for an unfortunate top.

NO MORE MAIL ON FLOOR

Receptacle Catches Letters as They Fall Through Slot in Door.

A simple and yet convenient device that will be found useful in offices has been patented by a Boston man. This is a letter-receptacle that can be affixed to the office door and will catch the mail as it is dropped through the slot. The device is not fastened to a structure of any kind, but is simply a small, shallow receptacle that is held in place by a spring. Two hooks, shaped somewhat like the letter "S," hold the frame to place on the door, one end of the hooks holding the rim and the other end passing through the letter drop. With this receptacle in position the mail drops into it instead of on the floor, and is in no danger of being torn when the door is opened in the morning, as is sometimes the case where there is a large pile of letters lying in the way. Another advantage of the contrivance is that it can be put up or taken down in an instant, and does not scratch or deface the door in any way. It need not hang in position during the day, if considered unsightly or in the way, but can be hooked into place when the owner leaves the office at night.

any number of persons, according to the space available for the erection of the framework on which the machinery runs. The principle is that of an endless chain, to which are attached cars at appropriate intervals. The chain or cable can be run in a vertical or horizontal position or can take dips, like those of a sawmill railway, though this device does not run with such speed as the millways do. The cars always maintain an upright position and never upset, and need not hesitate to take the trip, as there is nothing of an alarming nature in it. Passengers can see the occupants of other cars on the line as they pass them going up or down the towers or across the horizontal runways.

IMPROVED TENNIS MARKER

Either Liquid or Powder Can Be Used in This Machine.

Two Illinois men have invented a decided improvement on the old style tennis court marker, for with their device either liquid or powder can be used and a clean, lasting job can be done in a very short time. The marker consists of a hollow wheel propelled by a handle bar. The edge of the wheel, which is about two inches wide, is perforated and it revolves upon a hollow axle. Extending up along the handle bar is a hopper, with extensions communicating with the hollow axle, and into this hopper the material to be used for marking is poured. A cord is laid down along the line desired and by trundling the wheel along the cord the white substance inside flows through the perforations and leaves a broad, well defined line, the edges of which are not marred by spittle, such as are left when a brush is used and which often make it difficult to determine when a ball is "in" or "out." It takes a few minutes to mark an entire court with such a machine.

WANTED COMPANY IN MISERY.

Stranger Asked for Directions at Unfortunate Moment.

"I beg your pardon," said the stranger on the bicycle, riding slowly up to the sidewalk and steadying himself by putting his foot on the curb, "but I am looking for a restaurant where I can get a good meal. Can you direct me to one?"

The man whom he addressed was standing in front of a store, trying to rub a grain of sand out of his eye with one hand and holding his hat on with the other, for it was a windy day, and at first he made no response. But presently he spoke.

"Go to the next block," he said, "and turn to the right. Four doors down you will find a restaurant."

The stranger thanked him and rode on. About an hour later they accidentally met again. The stranger was on his way out of town. He stopped and spoke.

"My friend," he said, "I followed your directions. I went to the restaurant you directed me to, and I got the worst meal I ever had in my life."

"I thought you would," answered the other. "If you had waited till I got that grain of sand out of my eye I should have sent you to a good restaurant, but you didn't. I just had to divide my misery with somebody, and you happened to be handy."—Youth's Companion.

TOMMY AS GOOD AS A CHART.

Nurse Had No Trouble Remembering Time for His Medicine.

A Boston physician tells a story of a youngster of his own that an over-strenuous vacation had put on the sick list. The father had an appropriate prescription filled, and left the bottle with the child's mother. As she, however, is very forgetful, he gave her a chart, and suggested that she set down the hours when the medicine should be given, checking off each dose as taken. Upon returning from his evening calls, however, he found the chart blank.

"Good gracious, Mary," he exclaimed; "surely you haven't failed to give Tom his medicine?"

"Oh, no, I did not miss a single time," his wife assured him. "How in the world did you remember it without the chart?" he asked.

She smiled.

"That was easy. I just told Tom this morning at what hours he was to have it, and half an hour before each time he would begin hallooing that he wouldn't take it."

Devil-Tempted Young Man.

There is no one so devil-tempted today as the young custodian of the cash drawer. He is tempted because he assumes he is not paid enough; tempted because he cannot indulge himself as some who are better paid; tempted because he is vain of a good appearance; tempted because he wants to shine socially; tempted because he loves devotedly and cannot shower gifts from his thin pocketbook; tempted because he is a neophyte in forbidden mysteries; tempted, most of all, by the desire to emulate some other, apparently successful, young man who has made great "killings" on the race track or the stock exchange.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Turks as Beggars.

Beggars are never suppressed in Turkey. An American lady by mistake gave a beggar of Constantinople a gold piece. The man had left his post when she returned, but one of his colleagues told her where he "resided." It was a fine house, and at the door was a servant who politely informed the lady that "my master is dressing. He will be down soon." And then the well-groomed beggar, dressed for dinner, appeared and gladly returned the gold piece, exclaiming in the meanwhile that such mistakes were highly embarrassing.—Charities and The Commons.

Looking Into the Future.

A minister of a church in Edinburgh, Scotland, recently surprised the congregation at a Sunday evening service by handing in his resignation. He was only 60 years old and was in good health and vigor. The following Sunday a committee of the members waited upon him and expressed their regret at the step he was about to take. They said to him: "You have plenty of work in you yet. Why resign?" "Yes," he replied, "I know but you had better accept my resignation now. When I am 70 you will not be able to get rid of me."

Rule of Character.

Our own problem looks exceptional to us, but it is not. The next man we meet has an equally hard sum on his slate and is working it out or giving it up, quite in our own fashion. We think, perhaps, that riches would solve our difficulty for us in no time, or pleasure would soften it, or change would substitute an easier one. But in reality there is only one rule by which to work it out—the rule of character.

The Only Way.

Towns—Of course the scheme is a good one, but do you think your wife will approve of it?

Brown—Yes, if by careful hinting I can get her to formulate it herself and make her believe it's her own.

Proof of Wealth.

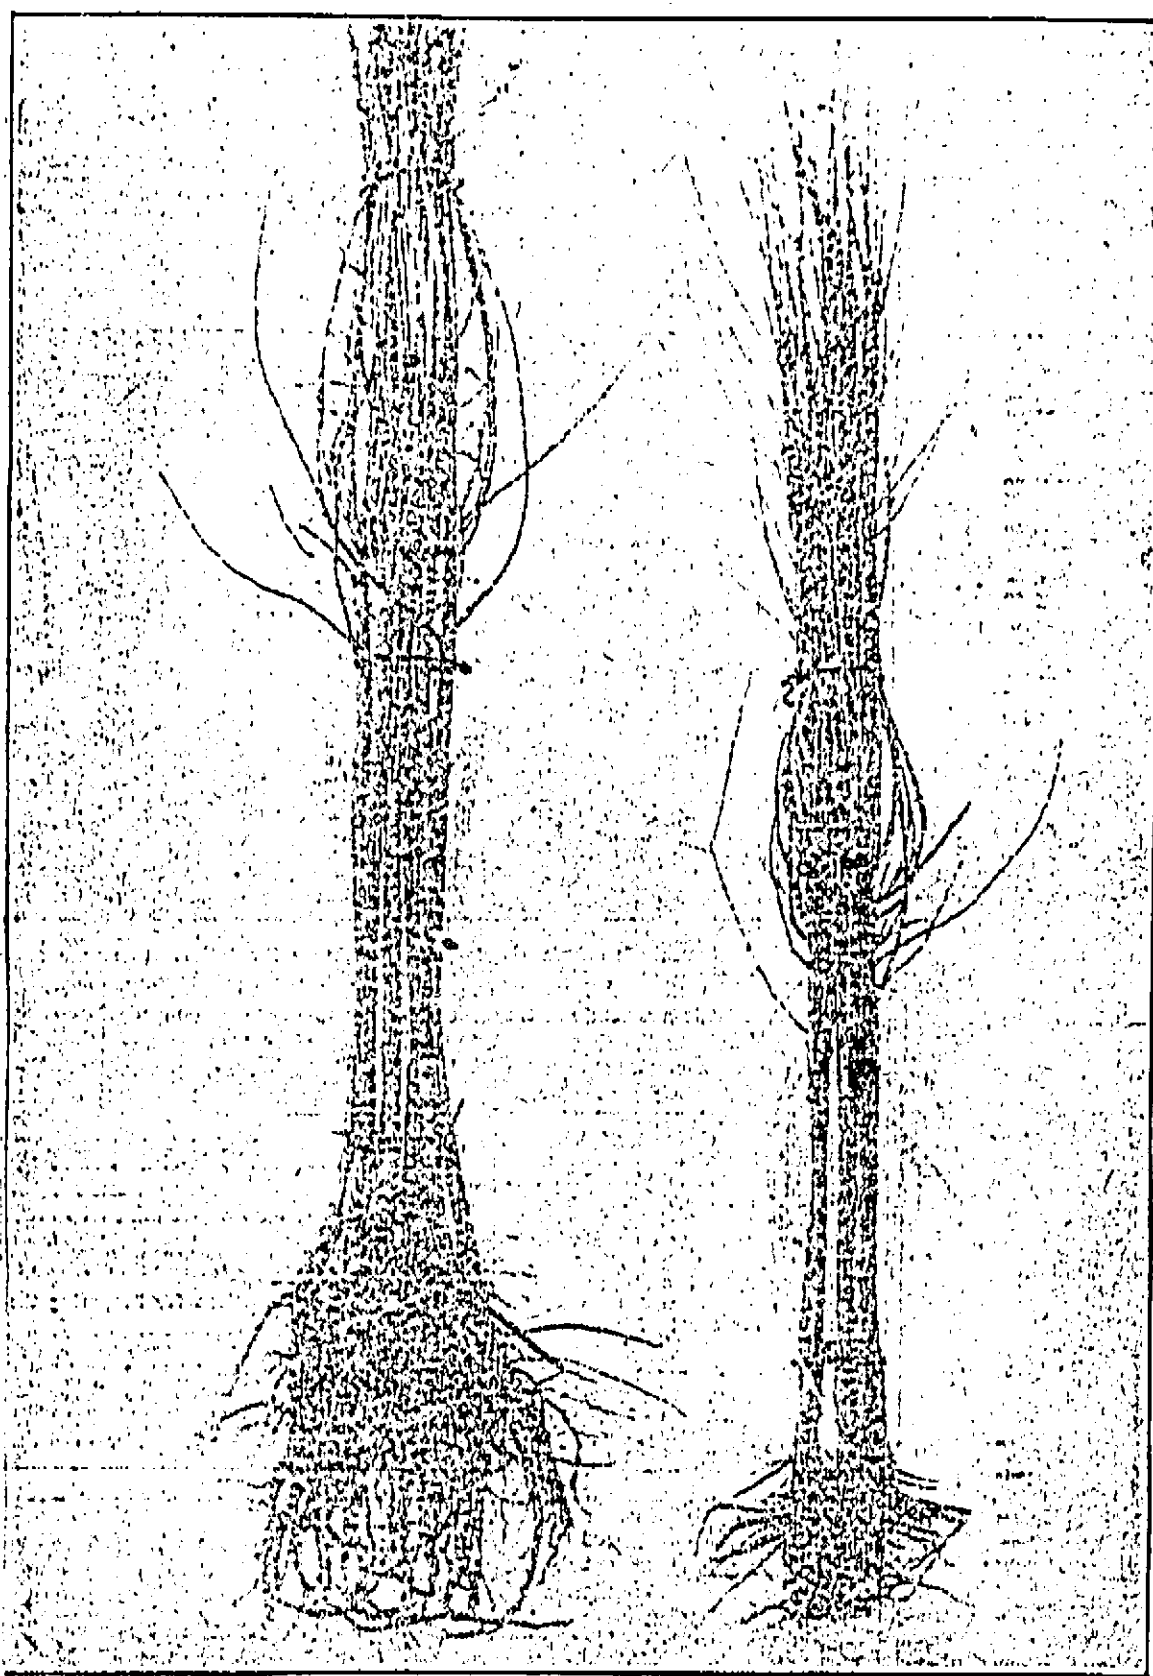

"Has your friend much of a fortune?"

"I should say so! He has nine children, and can afford to write poetry as well."

Can Never Have Too Much.

A man never surfeits of too much honesty.—German Proverb.

Want Ads, bring results.

The trees on the left of this picture are three year old budded trees, while the trees on the right are two year old piece root grafted trees. The comparison is made to show the difference in the amount of root on the different lots. It will be noticed that the piece root grafted trees do not show nearly as much root as the budded trees.

added to this will also increase its efficacy. Make no further treatment until the middle of May, when kerosene emulsion, one gallon to twenty-five gallons of water, should be applied. It is always best to apply the emulsion soon after the lice hatch.

Insects Affecting the Peach.—The Black Aphid.

Numbers of this small, shiny black insect may be seen in the spring on the leaves and twigs of the peach. The lice often do a great deal of damage above ground as well as below the roots.

Remedies.—For the form above ground, spraying with kerosene emulsion, one gallon to thirty-five gallons of water, is the most effective remedy. The first spraying should be made as soon as the lice appear; if necessary, this should be followed by others at intervals of a few days until the trees are rid of the pest. Under the ground the lice are best destroyed by digging in tobacco stems or dust among the trees. The tobacco is scattered on the ground to the depth of half an inch or more, then dug in with a spade or fork.

Peach Yellows.

This is one of the few diseases as to which very little is positively known, except its effects. It usually makes its appearance about mid-summer, causing the foliage of the tree to turn yellow, and soon thereafter the body and larger limbs will throw out a considerable number of weak, yellow leaved suckers. If the tree is loaded with fruit it will be under less notice, and the suckers will grow more prominently.

Remedies.—The moment that you feel sure that a tree is affected with yellows, dig it up root and branch and burn it, and plant any tree that you like, other than a peach, in its place.

Insects Affecting the Pear.—The Pear Tree Slug.

This insect attacks the leaves, eating away the green portion so that nothing remains but the parchment-like tissues and veins. It appears usually the latter part of June and again in August.

Remedies.—Spraying with a simple solution of milk of lime, made by mixing two pounds of lime in twenty gallons of water, will often rid the trees of this pest. The first application should be made as soon as the slugs are noticed; if necessary, others should follow in a week or ten days. By adding a little Paris Green, say one ounce, to the lime milk, the latter will be more effective.

The Oyster Bark Louse.

This insect resembles the Oyster Shell Bark Louse already described as attacking the apple.

Remedies.—The same as for Oyster Shell Bark Louse.

Pear Blight.

It is understood by the best authorities, both practical and scientific, that the cause of this disease is absolutely unknown, and there is but one certain remedy—namely—to cut out the affected parts promptly on appearance of the disease and burn them.

Insects Affecting the Plum.—The Curculio.

This little grub originates from eggs deposited by a small, dirty, gray beetle, when the flowers are still small.

Remedies.—The most reliable way now known of dealing with Curculio is to spray it with Paris Green. The first application should be made when the flowers are falling, using a solution made by mixing one pound of Paris Green in 200 gallons of water, and adding one and a half pounds of lime. In a week or ten days make a second application, and follow this by another after the lapse of same length of time.

The Plum Tree Aphid.

This insect resembles the one occurring on the peach and, like it, may be destroyed by spraying with kerosene emulsion, made by mixing one gallon of the concentrated emulsion in twenty gallons of water.

Black Knot.

The most scientific as well as practical fruit growers in the country are by no means agreed as to the cause of Black Knot on plum and cherry trees, but they are entirely agreed as to the only known remedy, namely: Cut as soon as the Black Knot appears, and burn the branch at least two inches below where the knot appears. Burn the affected parts and follow this method promptly, thoroughly, and in most cases, you will have exterminated the disease before it has done serious damage.

Insects Affecting the Cherry.

The Cherry is injured by plant lice, resembling those occurring on the peach or start the buds seriously before the customer can receive and plant his stock.

6. Stock planted in the fall into the benefit of the late fall and early spring rains which is of vital importance; on the contrary, stock set in the spring frequently has to worry through a dry summer, which it is utterly unprepared to do after having been so newly transplanted. This result is that the growth has been stunted.

7. Fruit is produced the first summer when trees (Plum, Currant, Raspberries, Blackberries, Gooseberries, etc.) are planted in the fall.

8. Root diseases and shrubs set out in the fall, bloom profusely the first summer.

9. Farmers and others have more time to attend to stock in the fall, and can therefore give it better care, which is very important. Much stock is lost by farmers when planted in the spring, because their farm work presses so then, that the stock is neglected.

10. Stock delivered in the fall arrives in better order, because Nurserymen have more time to handle it; but in the spring it comes off warm suddenly, that it is time to plant before the stock can possibly be dug, packed and delivered to all the thousands of customers over the country.

11. Many experienced and extensive planters like the late Horticultural writer, E. P. Roe, always prefer to plant in the fall (see extract at top of this circular from The American Nurseryman).

12. Even if the customer is not able to plant until spring, or the climate is too cold, it is wise to have the stock delivered in the fall, so that he can trench it carefully and to take the earliest moment in the spring to set it out, instead of being valuable time in the spring waiting for the over-worked Nurserymen and railroads to get the stock around.

How to "Heel In" Over Winter.

There is a popular impression that trees dug in the fall and heeled in over winter are worthless. If the soil around them with exposure fertilizer. Now mark carefully the fact that by the time the trees come into bearing, the expense of the labor, manure, etc., etc., has amounted to several times the original cost of the trees, and consequently if his cheap stock turns out in this trench, cover them with mellow earth, extending well up on the bodies and see that this is firmly packed. Then add another layer of trees, overlapping the first until they are all heeled in, and you will find them in an excellent condition in the spring.

A PLAIN TALK ABOUT PRICES, OR WHY CHEAP STOCK IS DEAR AT ANY PRICE.

It costs more to produce a good thing than a poor one, and in buying an article the first question should be, not how cheap it is, but how good it is. Many people understand this well enough, and yet how few ever stop to apply the rule to nursery stock. Yet the fact is that in no other kind of purchase is the quality of the article of such vital importance as in nursery stock. If a man, for instance, buys a poor coat at a cheap price, it is true that he gets cheated and loses something, as the coat doesn't wear as long nor look as well as a good one, but yet the loss is not great, as he gets some wear out of it. But now note the difference.

The price of a tree is the smallest part of the cost by the time it has come into bearing. If a man buys cheap trees to save a few cents on each, instead of buying first class, warranted stock, what is the result? It is impossible for him to tell by the looks of the stock delivered to him whether he is getting trees true to name or not, and he cannot tell for several years. If the trees are of decent size, the purchaser is apt to think they are all right, so he plants them on valuable land, takes good care of them for several years, looking the use of the land and putting in his time and labor, besides enriching the soil around them with expensive fertilizer. Now mark carefully the fact that by the time the trees come into bearing, the expense of the labor, manure, etc., etc., has amounted to several times the original cost of the trees, and consequently if his cheap stock turns out in this trench, cover them with mellow earth, extending well up on the bodies and see that this is firmly packed. Then add another layer of trees, overlapping the first until they are all heeled in, and you will find them in an excellent condition in the spring.

Now, had he paid more for a tree, he would have saved a great deal of loss of trees, and of land for years, expense of manure, fertilizing, etc., etc., to save a few cents on a tree when for a trifling increase in price he can get the very best, warranted stock.
